Lirelen Elessan

In the reign of Weothlus in the silver land, the starlight swords defeated on the wide continent the armies of the deathless lord in a long horrible battle. At the ruins of the Brillig he/they turned back the screaming silence at the Brillig ruins side by side with Daroteng Darogard, prince of the southern kingdom.

In gratitude for victory, the Dwarves of the southern kingdom forged this sword in the depths of the cold mountain. The great smith Belad Lada forged this sword of mithril and steel and stone.

Transported across the wide continent and across the silver channel, this sword was presented to the sorcerors of the silver lands. The Ilendor poured magic into this sword to guide and protect the bearer.

This sword of Elf and Dwarf is gifted to the starlight swords, to wield in war and in peace. The sword of swords is his to protect the kingdoms until weapons we no longer need.

I am the sword of swords.
